

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Altova Launches an All New Cloud-based Contract Management Solution

Beverly, Mass., September 30, 2020 – Altova® (<http://www.altova.com>) announced the release of Altova ContractManager, a highly customizable, cloud-based contract management app. Whether your firm manages tens, hundreds, or thousands of contracts, Altova ContractManager makes it easy and secure to store, manage, and search for your contracts with ease.

Choosing a centralized contract repository that all stake holders can access securely in the cloud has numerous benefits, from time savings to more efficient management of related contracts and important dates. This new solution provides complete contract lifecycle management with templates for documenting contract details, built in reminders, audit log and change tracking, and much more.

This turn-key solution provides:

- Centralized contract management
- Secure file storage for all your contracts
- Granular role and group-based permissions to control access to confidential information
- Automatic reminders for important review dates and deadlines
- Search tools to find contract documents and details instantly
- Full audit log and change tracking
- Options to customize the app as little or as much as required:
 - Change the hierarchy of containers in the database
 - Add, change, or delete any fields, forms, and database structure – even if records already exist in the database
 - Select from different themes to configure your display colors and font size
- Affordable monthly or annual pricing options
- And more

Both robust and highly customizable, Altova ContractManager provides tools to document contract details, store contract files, and keep track of important deadlines – all while being affordable for firms of all types and sizes. This solution is priced hundreds less than competing apps, with pricing starting at $299 per user per year, or just under $25 per month when paid annually. Monthly subscriptions will also be available at $29 per month. Users can start the purchasing process by clicking Manage Subscription in the Altova Cloud.

A free 30-day evaluation subscription for Altova ContractManager is easy to request in seconds by visiting <https://altova.cloud> and creating an account. No credit card is needed, and users can get started with ContractManager right away – without needing to download software or enter a license.
